PAULINE TERRELL RICKS

DEC 14, 1914-DEC 26, 2014 LOUISVILLE, KY—Funeral services for Pauline Terrell Ricks, 100, of Louisville, a native of Trigg County, will be held at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 31, 2014, at Goodwin Funeral Home in Cadiz. The Rev. Charles Rogers will officiate. Burial will follow at Trigg Memory Acres in Trigg County. Pauline Ricks passed away on Friday, Dec. 26, 2014, at her home in Louisville. She was kind, intelligent, industrious, witty and devoted to her family. She will be sorely missed. Her work history was varied and included serving as a court stenographer for the Trigg County court system, private secretary for the Seelbach Hotel in Louisville, and supervisor in unemployment claims for the Kentucky Department of Human Resources for thirty years. She was a member of Fourth Avenue United Methodist Church in Louisville and was also a member of the Thomas Bridges Association. She was preceded in death by her husband, Terry "Sonny" Ricks; her parents, Lewis and Peachie Terrell; one granddaughter, Cynthia Childress; and son-in-law Arnold Ray "Jimmie" Childress. Pauline Ricks is survived by three daughters, Carol Childress of Cocoa, Fla., Rita Cobb (and husband Norman) of Shelbyville, and Susan Young (and husband Kevin) of Lake Charles, La.; eight grandchildren, 12 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Serving as active pallbearers will be Norman Cobb, Andrew Cobb, Peter Cobb, Wesley Young, Kevin Brady and Carl Ray Francis. Music will be provided by Jo Whitmer, vocalist and Gary Thompson, organist. Memorial contributions may be made to American Heart Association, 210 Malibu Drive, Suite 125, Lexington, KY 40502.

EDGAR DOUGLAS CHRISTMAN

NOV 26, 1929-DEC 24, 2014 WINSTON-SALEM, NC—Edgar Douglas Christman, 85, the longtime chaplain of Wake Forest University, passed away on December 24, 2014, after a short illness. Ed led a life made rich through faith in God and a joyous curiosity and presence for others. Amazing Grace was his favorite hymn, and he always spoke of the grace that marked his life. Many in turn were graced by his love. Ed was born and raised in Jacksonville, Florida. He was the son of Ola E. Christman, Comptroller of the Jacksonville Railroad Terminal, and Monseurat Adela Josephina Carles Christman, a Vice President of the Monticello Drug Company. He graduated from Robert E. Lee High School. Wake Forest also brought Ed his greatest gift—his soulmate and wife Jean Sholar, whom he met over a cup of coffee in 1949. They were married on December 23, 1952, at the Wake Forest Baptist Church in Wake Forest. Jean was a teacher and she was also Ed's "co-chaplain" throughout his career. Ed's career as a chaplain began in 1954, while he was a seminary student. He was hired by J. Glenn Blackburn, then the college's chaplain and church pastor, to work as Baptist Student Union Director. Ed soon realized that working with students was his life's calling. For the rest of his life, he had one job—serving the Wake Forest community. His titles evolved from BSU Director (1954-56), to Baptist Campus Minister (1956-59), then Assistant Chaplain (1961-1968), and finally University Chaplain (1969-2003). In 2007, he was awarded the Medallion of Merit. Ed leaves behind his wife Jean Sholar Christman; daughters Carolyn and Kim, sons-in-law Ron Shehee and Stan Dotson, and grandson Francisco Christman Shehee. Though an only child, Ed acquired many brothers during his life, and he leaves behind Ed Wilson, Lonnie Williams, Joe Clontz, Richard McBride, Herman Eure, and John Cowan. A memorial service will be held on Tuesday December 30, 2014, 11am, at the Wake Forest Baptist Church, in Wait Chapel, on the Wake Forest University campus. You are invited to leave online condolences at the Ed and Jean biographical website: edchristman.com In lieu of flowers, send a gift to the charity of your choice or to the Wake Forest Baptist Church of Winston-Salem; the Ed and Jean Christman Fellowship at the Wake Forest University Divinity School; the Ed and Jean Christman (Poteat) Scholarship to Wake Forest University; and Salem Towne—The Moravian Home, of Winston-Salem.

RICHARD C. CLARK

OCT 14, 1946-DEC 8, 2014SALINE, MI—Richard C. "Dick" Clark, age 68, passed away peacefully Monday morning December 8, 2014 at the Saline Evangelical Home. He was born on November 14, 1946, in Detroit, MI, the son of James and Doris (Davis) Clark. Richard "Dick" grew up in Detroit, MI, and attended Henry Ford High School. He attended Eastern Michigan University and began a career in sales, working with a major food distributor and then many years in motorcycle dealer supply. Dick also worked with his brother in design and furniture distribution for another 17 years. Dick prided himself on his work ethic and independence throughout his life. Though enjoying work as a means to support himself, his true passion was sports, mostly baseball. Dick spent almost 40 years as a baseball historian and a major contributor to the Society for American Baseball Research (SABR). Dick was a chairman of the Negro Leagues committee and helped many black ball players to find their home in Cooperstown in the Baseball Hall of Fame. Dick's knowledge of the game, its history, as well as, current and past teams and players was unmatched. In addition to his passion for baseball, Dick was a fan of most all sports. From his local favorites of the Tigers, Red Wings, Lions and Pistons, he also became a fan of European football, and his favorite team was the Manchester United. Dick spent most of his "free" time watching and supporting youth sports and activities. Anyone that knew Dick, knew about his grand kids and their respective sporting events and activities. From dance to music concerts, soccer, swimming, basketball and baseball, Dick was at most all of his grandkids games and events with supportive comments throughout and encouragement and guidance after. Dick was a fan and even coach to many within the community as a whole. It was expected that his grand kids would call him "Grandpa Dick", but it was also special to have the kid's friends and teammates calling him "Grandpa Dick" as well. Dick had a big heart, a great sense of humor, and was a friend to many. Dick was a loving brother, father and grandfather. He is survived by his brother, Charles "Chuck" Clark and Step Son, Kristian (Tara) Holmberg, and four grandchildren: Macy, Kelsey, Chloe, and Nathan. Memorial contributions may be made to the Society for American Baseball Research, SABR, 4455 E. Camelback Road, Suite D-140, Phoenix, Arizona 85018, with funds earmarked to the Jerry Malloy Conference. A memorial service on Saturday, May 16, 2015 from 1:00-3:00 P.M. at the Eastern Michigan University Student Center in Event Room #300 -EMU Student Center 900 Oakwood Street, Ypsilanti, MI, 48197.

MARY KATHERINE LAWRENCE

SEP 12, 1921-MAY 23, 2014

LOUISVILLE, KY—Mary Katherine "Kay" Lawrence age 92, of Louisville, Ky., died Friday, May 23, 2014 at the Baptist Health in Louisville, Ky. Mary Kay Lawrence was born September 12, 1921 in Brewers, Kentucky. Kay was one of two children born to Loyd Lawrence and Mamie Chester Lawrence. She had one brother, James Elmo Lawrence whom she adored. She passed away on May, 23, 2014. Kay learned piano at an early age from her mother, and it became her life's passion. She studied classical music at Murray State University, where she began taking piano lessons in her sophomore year of high school. She attributes her luck in attending college to her mother, who pushed her to continue in school. After graduating from college, Kay taught chorus, rhythm ensemble and marching band to students in grades 1-12 at Dixon and Poole Schools in Webster County. Because time and space was not available during school hours Kay spent many evenings rehearsing with the band without the use of electricity. The high school band under Kay's direction performed at the railroad depot for the young soldiers heading off to World War II. Saving $950 from teaching, Kay followed her dream of going to New York City to continue her musical studies and left Kentucky at the end of her first year of teaching. While in New York, Kay attained her master's degree from Columbia University. Although she was brought up studying classical music, Kay was bitten by the jazz bug early on in Brewster Kentucky where she and her brother first heard jazz being played while in high school. She was soon playing jazz piano at clubs in New York. She recalled going to Union Hall on 52nd street where callers would say, "We need a pianist at so and so club this Friday". Kay started getting employment this way, but soon she was established and had regular engagements. Once when she was playing in an after-hours club, Art Tatum, (who is considered one of the greatest pianists in any style of music) came in, sat next to her on the piano bench and asked her to play for him. She played "Sweet Lorraine" which she knew he had just recorded. On another occasion she and friends stopped at a bar where Charlie Parker was playing. At the intermission Charlie came over to her table. Someone started introductions and Charlie stopped them saying, "Oh I know Kay." The music critic Leonard Feather wrote an article on the music scene there and while he described various well-known pianists as scholarly or polite he said if you want to hear "hard swing jazz" go hear Mary Kay Lawrence play. In addition to playing with the greats of her time, Kay performed at Carnegie Hall, accompanying a dancer. In the mid-1950s, Kay formed an all-girl trio, The Kay Lawrence Trio, with a drummer and bassist, and performed throughout New York City. Kay moved to Louisville in the 1960's, and taught in the public schools. She also taught piano privately at Mel Own Music as well as Bellarmine University for about thirty years. She was one of the few musicians who traveled in both the classical music world as well as the jazz world. Kay knew the playing of the new young lions on the national jazz scene and yet her favorite classical composer was Charles Ives, whose quirky polytonal music with quotes from various folk music, seemed to perfectly fit her personality. She would laugh out loud as she listened to his music. Kay continued entertaining people into her nineties, as she would play for happy hour at the assisted living facility where she lived until her passing. In addition to her love and mastery of music, Kay read the bible daily, exuberantly cheered on the University of Kentucky Wildcats every basketball season and when she visited Jim in Murray, would wile away the days fishing. Her parents, her brother Jim, of Murray, Kentucky and Dia Sharpus, the light of her life, preceded her in death. Dia was the daughter of Soni Sharpus, a dear friend for many, many years, who also preceded Kay in death. Kay never had children but she leaves behind students of all ages, who were touched by her talent and humor and who will miss her dearly. As one of her longtime students stated..."Heaven is lucky to have her now." Graveside services will be held 10:00 a.m., Thursday, May 29, 2014 at the Brewster Cemetery. No public visitation will be held.

JOYCE DAVIS BANISTER

SEP 28, 1928-APR 9, 2014

CADIZ, KY—Funeral services for Joyce Davis Banister, 85, of Sellersburg, Ind., a native of Cadiz, were held on Saturday, April 12, 2014, at Goodwin Funeral Home in Cadiz. The Revs. Scott Wilson, Kenny Rogers and Dr. Bill Clark officiated. Burial followed at the East End Cemetery in Cadiz. Goodwin Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements. Joyce Banister passed away on Wednesday, April 9, 2014, in Jeffersonville, Ind. In her youth, Joyce joined Oak Grove Baptist Church and was baptized in the Cumberland River in Canton. Following her marriage, she joined Cadiz United Methodist Church. She taught Sunday school in different departments, served on numerous committees, worked as secretary in the church office, and served as a delegate to the annual Methodist conference for numerous years. Joyce also attended Union Ridge Baptist Church in Marshall County and Sellersburg United Methodist Church in Sellersburg, Ind. Joyce was a charter member of the Cadiz Women's Club where she served on the constitution and bylaws committee, a member of the Ophelia Chapter No. 55, Order of the Eastern Star, a lifetime member of the Thomas-Bridges Association where she served in every elective office, on the resolutions committee and as a correspondent to long time editors, Edison H. Thomas and Charles Kenneth Bridges; a member of the James Thomas Chapter of the American Revolution. She was a former member of the Trigg County Historical Society, the Trigg County PTA and the Trigg County Band Boosters. Joyce was also a Kentucky Colonel. Her hobbies included genealogy, scrap booking, quilting, cross-stitching, crocheting, sewing, her camera and last, but not least, spending time with her family and friends. Joyce was always sharing the past with anyone and could always find a family "connection" with all. All would agree Joyce never met a stranger. She was a 1946 Trigg County High School Honor graduate. She attended Nashville Business College and Murray State University. Joyce had been employed at Trigg County Farmers Bank and retired as president and general manager of Trigg County Insurance Agency. With an insatiable appetite for knowledge, Joyce said the best gift she ever received was when she was 10 years old; a dictionary her Thomas grandparents ordered by sending a quarter and a Rectonga box top (Rectonga was a tonic they used). In her golden years, among her clutter there was always a dictionary within arm's reach. She kept abreast of current events by reading a daily newspaper and watching world news on TV nightly. She is survived by a brother, Ned Davis (and wife Martha) of Trigg County; two daughters, Dr. Suzanne Banister of Jeffersonville, Ind., and Betsy Scroggins (and husband Steve) of Aurora; one granddaughter, Casey Linn Drane (and husband James) of Sellersburg, Ind., with whom she made her home; two great-grandsons, Eli James Drane and Samuel Davis Drane, of Sellersburg, Ind.; sisters-in-law, Marian R. Davis of Hopkinsville and Mary B. Graham of Cadiz; brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Claude E. and Sue Banister of Memphis, Tenn.; two honorary grandchildren, Benji Allen and Tori Scroggins, both of Trigg County; and numerous nieces, nephews, cousins and friends. Serving as active pallbearers were Jesse Ordunez, Kenny Davis, Michael Phillips, Tom Davis, Tim Davis and George St. Onge. Honorary pallbearers were Brent Thompson, William Lawrence, W.C. HULAN GLYN THOMAS

FEB 27, 1934-FEB 3, 2014

WHITESBURG, GA—Hulan Glyn Thomas died peacefully at Waller, his home on the Chattahoochee River, at 2:05 p.m. on Monday, February 3, after a short illness. He was 79 years old. He is survived by his son, Tim Thomas of Nashville, Tennessee; grandson Sean Ogle of Knoxville Tennessee; step-granddaughter Vicky Ogle of Seattle Washington; sister Faye Fleming and husband Marshall of McAllen Texas; brothers Stan Thomas, wife Earlene, daughter Becky and grandchildren Jordan and Austin, Butch Thomas, wife Robin and children Casey and Tyler, Mike Thomas and wife Julie Gabel, Dale Land, wife Pam and son Jacob, all of Fayetteville Arkansas; Wife #2 Sas Risse Thomas of Carrollton Georgia and her daughters Holly Lorrens, husband Gary and granddaughter Stevie Wright of Copperhill Tennessee, and Gabi North, husband Percy and grandchildren Jessie and Jason of Carrollton; Wife #3 Wanda Austin Witt of Carrollton; and current Wife #4 Sybil Rosen Thomas of Whitesburg Georgia. Though he was not survived by Wife #1 Nellie Haymes Thomas, stepson Greg Risse, nephew Matthew Fleming or stepmother Joyce Dean Thomas, he never forgot them. Glyn was born on February 27, 1934 in Cadiz, Kentucky to Hulan Thomas and Margaret Harrel, a grass-seed salesman and waitress, respectively. After the death of his younger sister Philomena Kay, Glyn and his mother moved to Nashville Tennessee in the mid-1940's where Margaret married Glyn's stepfather Lexie Crisp. Glyn served in the Navy during the Korean War and, with the help of the GI Bill, graduated from Middle Tennessee State University in the late 50's with a double major in history and economics. He received his Masters' Degree from Vanderbilt University, his master's thesis being a history of Tennessee's Highlander Folk School from which the song "We Shall Overcome" emerged as the anthem of the labor and civil rights movements. Glyn served as an historian and archivist for the Tennessee Historical Society before moving to Atlanta, Georgia to teach the social sciences at Georgia Tech. He was the faculty advisor for the Tech Action Committee, an affiliate of SDS, and vocal in Vietnam anti-war and civil rights protests. He also worked as a consultant for VISTA, introducing volunteers to Southern culture through its music and stories. In the late 60's Glyn and his wife Sas moved to Waller, an old fish camp outside Whitesburg, Georgia. Glyn taught an Alternative Lifestyles class at nearby University of West Georgia, which included a tour of local teepees, geodesic domes and tree houses. There he became assistant to Political Science Chairman Don Wells, and later the Dean of Arts and Sciences Richard Dangle for over twenty years. In announcing his retirement, Glyn wrote that the job had been fun but that he'd "had all the fun he could stand." By his wide circle of loving family and friends, Glyn will be treasured for his embracing hospitality, his warm generosity and sweetness, his storytelling, his love of rough lumber engineering, his unflinching politics and steady fairness, his wry sense of humor, and also that hair. There will be a memorial for Glyn on Saturday, March 1st beginning at 1 pm at Waller. In lieu of flowers, please make a donation to Agape Hospice Foundation, the Southern Poverty Law Center, the Whitesburg Public Library, The Friends of McIntosh for the Chattahoochee Story Project, or any other charity of which you think Glyn might approve. Messages of condolences may be expressed to the family online at www.almonfuneralhome.com Almon Funeral Home of Carrollton in charge of arrangements.

JAMES CLAUDE MAYS

AUG 1, 1919-JAN 8, 2014

MARSHALL, AR—James Claude Mays, 94, of Springfield passed away on January 8, 2014. He was born on August 1, 1919, in Marshall, AR, the youngest of five children. In 1937, Jim married his first wife, Altra, the mother of his three daughters. Jim graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1941 with a degree in agriculture. After graduation, he served our country in the United States Air Force during WWII. The Mays family relocated to Springfield, MO, in 1957 so Jim could pursue his business career. For the next 30 years, Jim was a successful self-employed business owner in both Springfield and Kimberling City. After his retirement, he enjoyed boating, gardening and visiting with his many friends at Table Rock Lake. Nine years ago, Jim moved back to Springfield to reside at the Montclair, his new home. A special thanks to our friends at the Montclair, where Jim found a second family, and the staff at Ravenwood, where Jim spent his final days in the care of a wonderful nursing staff. Jim is preceded in death by his first wife, Altra Mays, second wife, Charlotte Mays, three brothers, and one sister. He is survived by his three daughters, Judy Mabe, Marti (Bill) Helfrecht and Jill (Dan) Oswalt; 8 grandchildren; and 8 great-grandchildren, all of Springfield. Jim's greatest joys in life were his family, gardening, playing baseball, and avidly rooting for the St. Louis Cardinals and Arkansas Razorbacks. Jim was a kind, generous, loving man and inspirational friend, father, and grandpa (PaPa). His family treasured his blessings at family gatherings and will miss his bright smile and sunny disposition; he never met a stranger and whenever asked, Jim always said, "I've had a good day." Funeral services will be held Monday, January 13, 2014 at 2 p.m. in Gorman-Scharpf Funeral Home with visitation to follow. Burial in Rivermonte Memorial Gardens will follow services. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Lost and Found, 1006 N. Cedarbrook, Springfield, MO 65802.
